THE BEAUTIFUL SNOW.

{The name of the author is unknown, but the poem is said to have been found in the effects of a young woman of about twenty-two years old who died in a Cincinnati Hospital.}

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
Filling the sky and earth below;
Over the housetops, over the street,
Over the heads of the people you meet.

Dancing.

Flirting.
Skimming along;
Beautiful snow, it can do no wrong.
Flying to kiss a fair lady's cheek,
Clinging to lips in a frolicsome freak,
Beautiful snow from the heavens above,
Pure as an angel, gentle as love!

Oh! the snow, the beautiful snow,
How the flakes gather and laugh as they go
Whirling about in their maddening fan,
It plays in its glees with every one.

Chasing.

Laughing.
Hurrying by;
It lights on the face and it sparkles the eye,
And the dogs, with a bark and a bound,
Snap at the crystals that eddy around—
The town is alive and its heart in a glow
To welcome the coming of beautiful snow!

How the wild crowd goes swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor and song!
How the gay sledges, like meteors, flash by,
Bright for a moment, then lost to the eye—
Ringing.

Swinging.
Dancing they go
Over the crust of the beautiful snow;
Now so pure when it falls from the sky
To be trampled in mud by the crowd rushing by,
To be trampled and tracked by the thousands of feet,
Till it blends with the filth in the horrible street.

Once I was pure as the snow—but I fell!
Fell like the snow flakes from Heaven to Hell;
To be trampled as filth in the street;
Fell to be scooped, to be spit on and beat;
Pleading.

Cursing.
Dreading to die,
Selling my soul to whoever would buy,
Dealing in shame for a morsel of bread,
Hating the living and fearing the dead;
Merciful God! have I fallen so low?
And yet I was once like the beautiful snow.

Once I was fair as the beautiful snow,
With an eye like its crystal, a heart like its glow;
Plattered and sought for the charms of my face!
Father,
Mother,
Sisters, all,

God and myself I've lost by my fall;
The richest wretch that goes shivering by
Will make a wide swoop lest I wander too high;
For all that is on or above me, I know,
There is nothing that's pure but the beautiful snow.

How strange it should be that the beautiful snow
Should fall on a sinner with nowhere to go
How strange it should be, when the night comes again,
If the snow and the ice strike my desperate brain.

Fainting.
Dying alone,
Too weak for prayer, too weak for a moan
To be heard in the streets of the crazy town,
To be mad in the joy of the snow coming down,
To be mad to die in my terrible woe,
With a bed and a shroud of the beautiful snow.

EX-MASON VETERAN

Washington Paper's Tribute to Judge Sanders Walker Johnston

The Washington Evening Star has the following of Judge Sanders Walker Johnston, a native of this county, who died recently in Washington City—

The death of Judge Sanders Walker Johnston, a veteran of the War with Mexico, and for many years a prominent citizen of Washington, occurred at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his residence, 1320 Florida avenue, the immediate cause being pneumonia. Judge Johnston was eighty-four years of age December 10th last. He was a son of Dr. William Bryant Johnston of Mason county, Ky. He studied law with General Thomas L. Hamer of Georgetown, O., and was admitted to the Bar of the Supreme Court of that state in 1843. He raised and commanded Company G, First Regiment of Ohio Volunteers in the War with Mexico, and was especially mentioned for bravery by General Taylor in his report on the battle of Monterrey. General Taylor in his official report said:

"I am under particular obligations to the chief of my staff, Lieutenant J. Hooker of the Army, and my aide-de-camp, Captain S. W. Johnston of the Ohio Volunteers, for the assistance they afforded me during the whole conflict. * * * Captain Johnston was indefatigable during the day and in the heat of the engagement dismounted and took his station on foot, to enable Colonel Mitchell, who was wounded, to retire on horseback from the field."

It was General Hamer, at that time member of Congress from Ohio, who appointed U. S. Grant a cadet at West Point, and in early manhood Colonel Johnston was closely associated with the General, whose home was then with his father in Georgetown, O. They were comrades in Mexico and their friendship extended throughout the General's life.

He was a member of the Aztec Club, composed of the officers of 1847.

In 1851 Captain Johnston was elected to the Ohio State Senate, and in 1854 was appointed by President Pierce Associate Justice of the Territory of Kansas, and in 1857 commenced the practice of law at Leavenworth. He came to Washington during the Civil War and for more than forty years had been prominently identified with matters, official, political and social in this city, where he had many friends.

Judge Johnston was well known in social circles in this city, and when he lived at 937 K street, Northwest, his home was the rendezvous of many of the musical, literary and official personages of the capital. He is remembered especially for his lovable character. In all his life he was never known to do an unkind act or speak an unkind word. His strength of mind also was great, and in the early days of the history of Kansas he was a towering figure on the side of law and order.

Judge Johnston's wife, Mrs. Sarah Hall Johnston, a brother and sister, Anderson D. Johnston and Elizabeth Bryant Johnston of Washington, and two children by his first wife, who was a daughter of General Hamer, Thomas Hamer Johnston of this city and Mme. Marie Decca of New York, survive him.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL.

"Thou Shalt Not Kill" is the title of a new drama from the pen of Frederick Schwartz, booked at the Opera-house Thursday, January 19th. Mr. Schwartz, in a trip around the world, spent three days with Count Tolstoi. Knowing that Count Tolstoi was the author of "Resurrection" and other famous plays, Mr. Schwartz conceived the idea of dramatizing the pamphlet for American production. The nobleman agreed and that was how "Thou Shalt Not Kill" came to be written, and it is said, is an exceptionally strong drama, which is sensational but entirely free from "blood and thunder." The play was successful from the opening performance in New York in August and two companies are now on tour. Seats on sale at Ray's Tuesday morning.

At Lexington, James Garfield Smith, colored, was found equally guilty with John and Ed Taylor of the murder of William Moore some weeks ago and his punishment fixed at death. This is the second of the murderers to be convicted. The trial of John Taylor was begun yesterday.

Early Silk Exhibit

That comprises such a meritorious showing it deserves an ad to itself. Time was when the buying of a silk waist or dress was an event, now-a-days it is merely an incident. Price and the wonderful progressiveness of the great twentieth century make it possible for these queenly fabrics to come within the reach of all. There are few who cannot enjoy the luxury of a silk frock when such designs, qualities and colors in figured foulards, plain and changeable taffetas, black peau de soie and white taffata can be bought

For 48c a Yard

Perhaps you were sharers in the silks we sold at this price last month. Well, excellent as were the values then, these new arrivals better them. You can rely on that statement for our ads are written with a common sense view to business, not to amuse the public, to tickle its risibilities with bombastic claims, delicious to its sense of humor, but not compatible with a dignified respect for its credulity.
